Parkland Pathways Heritage Walks

The Parkland Pathways Heritage Walks highlight the community's rich history as a thriving pioneer community and commercial centre for a flourishing agricultural district.

Why Parkland Pathways? Morden is remarkable for its wealth of mature trees and shrubs planted throughout the community. This is a legacy of the influence of the Morden Experimental Farm, established here by the Dominion Government in 1916 and the vision of early residents who began one of Manitoba's first horticultural societies in 1916.

Morden Pump Track

The pump track includes elements for off-road cyclists of all ages and skill levels, making it a fun way for families to enjoy cycling in a traffic-free environment, and enhance their cycling skills and fitness. The Morden pump track was designed to allow a cyclist to maintain speed around the track by using upper and lower body strength and movement, instead of pedaling. This provides a thrilling ride over the hills and curves, and also a great full-body workout.

Pembina Valley Provincial Park & Campground

Those who believe that the prairies are flat and monotonous haven't seen the Pembina Hills, which begin on the western outskirts of Morden, rise gently, level off and rise again, forming a wide plateau of rich farmland between. A few kilometres out of Morden they reach a height of 180 meters then suddenly dip sharply forming the scenic Pembina Valley which teems with wildlife and is overgrown with poplar, oak, birch & hundreds of other species of shrubs, flowers and trees.
